

ABSTRACT

An automated high volume coring machine having a frame, a lifting device, a coring station, and a programmable controller. The lifting device having a scoop for lifting the produce into the 5 coring station. The coring station having removing the skin and core of the produce.